| Description Changes in the Twitter API introduced this. v1.9.1 and v2.1.7 of the JTwitter API both exhibit the same behavior. Need to see what can be done (maybe in the Twitter app settings). | | | |

History

#1 - 08/22/2011 06:18 AM - Patrick Talbot

- File dev.twitter.com-application-permission-model.pdf added
- Status changed from New to Closed

This comes from a change of the permission model for apps.

Existing apps need to be updated to include Direct Messages.
Then users will have to request new tokens and approve the new permissions to apply.

I have updated the ServoyStuff app permission.

See details in the PDF coming from <https://dev.twitter.com/docs/application-permission-model> - included here because this site has a tendency to disappear :(
