Description
My solution appears to have broken when using this function in web client.
It still works in developer, but appears to be broken in deployment on the web server.
The show pdf appears to create a temporary file that can be accessed, so it would appear the velocity plugin is pointing correctly at the server url.
but any images created using this function don't appear in the html. This happens even when rendering to an HTML field on the layout.

Sorry, here is the same preview in servoy 6. this is on the live server.

I have found out that the method I was relying on in Servoy 5 API and which was doing:

```
public URLStreamHandler getMediaURLStreamHandler()
{
    return new MediaURLStreamHandler(application);
}
```

Is now (in 6 and for Web client only):

```
@Deprecated
public URLStreamHandler getMediaURLStreamHandler()
{
    return null;

I have asked Johan for some explanations, they shouldn't brake/deprecate methods without warnings, when the method is still in the public API.

Will keep you posted.

Thanks,

hopefully it will be easy to fix. They must be due 6.0.1 soon!

Talked to Johan about it, it's a bug in 6.

I'm prepared to send him a patch but he is on vacation right now :)
Hopefully this will make it in 6.0.1

#6 - 09/06/2011 06:22 PM - David Pearce

That sounds good. Many thanks
